VACCINE POLICY

At Cornerstone Health, we recognize that vaccination is a personal decision that involves careful consideration of available research, individual risk factors, and personal beliefs. As such, we respect the autonomy of patients and parents to make informed choices regarding vaccination for themselves and their children.

We do not mandate vaccination as a requirement for joining our practice. However, we strongly encourage open and ongoing dialogue about vaccines to ensure that patients and parents are well-informed. Our goal is to empower individuals with the necessary information to make educated decisions about their healthcare.

Key Components of Our Policy:

Informed Decision-Making: We believe in providing comprehensive information about the risks and benefits of vaccines, as well as addressing any questions or concerns that patients or parents may have.

Open Dialogue: We are committed to fostering a supportive environment where patients and parents feel comfortable discussing their vaccine-related concerns. We encourage questions and are dedicated to providing timely and accurate clinical data.

Respect for Individual Choices: We understand that each individual's situation is unique, and we respect the right of patients and parents to make choices that align with their values and preferences.

Extensive Counseling: We offer thorough counseling on vaccines, ensuring that patients and parents have access to the resources they need to make informed decisions.

Accommodation of Requests and Concerns: We are attentive to the needs and concerns of our patients and parents regarding vaccines, and we strive to address any requests or concerns in a compassionate and respectful manner.

By adhering to these principles, we aim to support our patients and parents in making decisions that are in the best interest of their health and well-being. We are committed to providing high-quality care and fostering a collaborative partnership in healthcare decision-making.

Cornerstone Health is dedicated to promoting health and wellness while respecting individual choices and beliefs. We are here to support you every step of the way.
